

Surgeon Gen. Gorgas at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, where crippled soldiers returned from the front are taught to be self-supporting. Weaving rugs is one industry in which instruction is given.

Copyright, International Film.

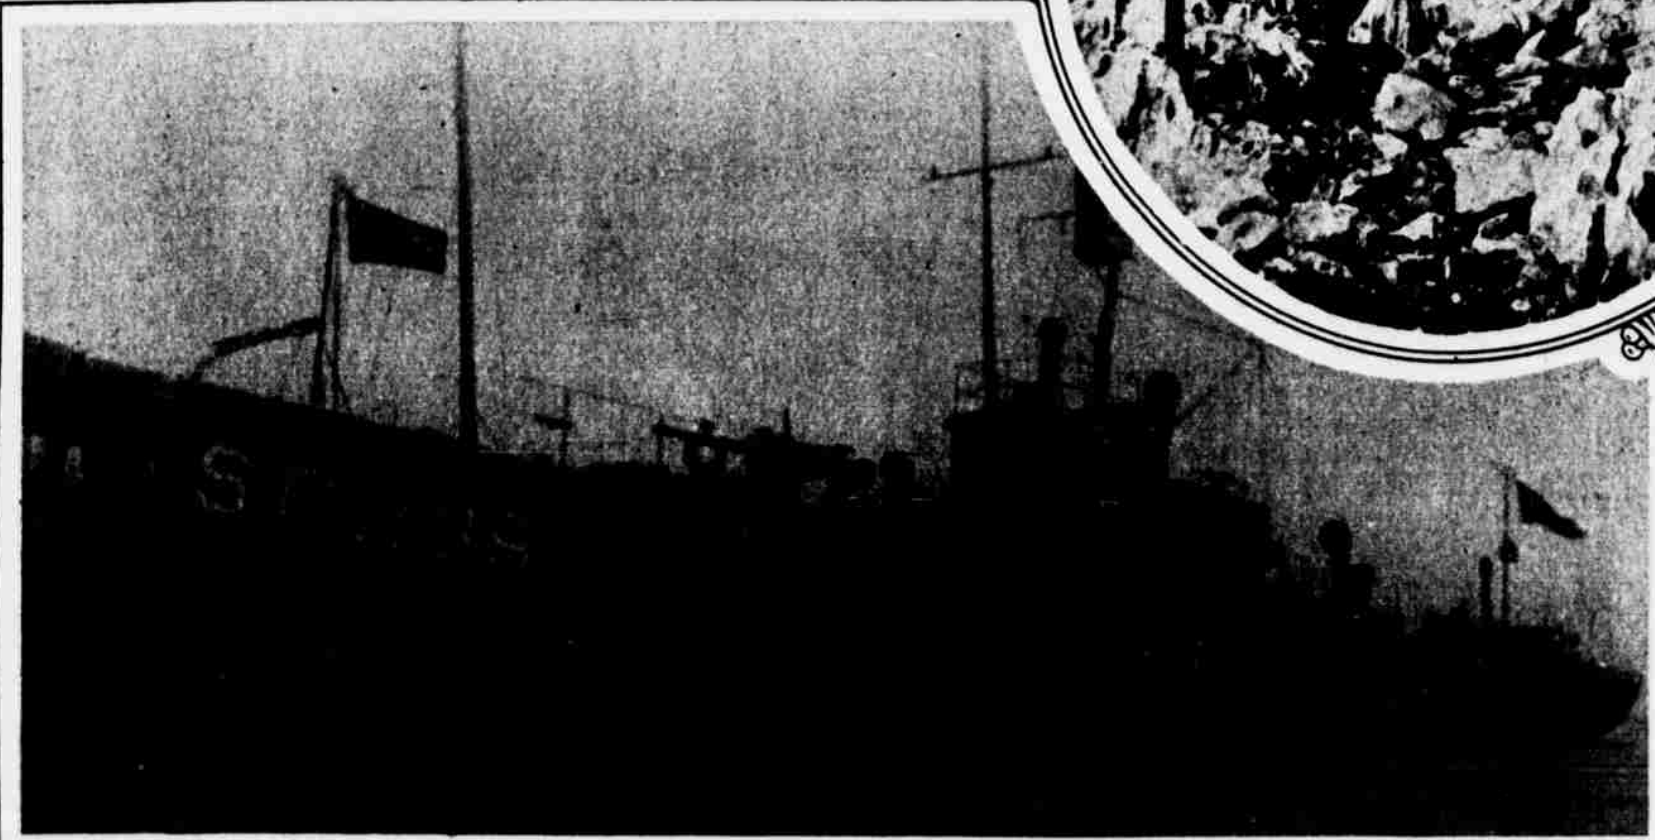

At Left—A "dud," but still dangerous. Note the fence Italian soldiers have erected about this 305 m.m. Austrian shell.

The King of Spain enjoying a rest during a bear hunt. In the group on the ground are, from left to right, the Infante Alfonso, the Infanta Louise and King Alfonso.

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Photo Rain News Service.

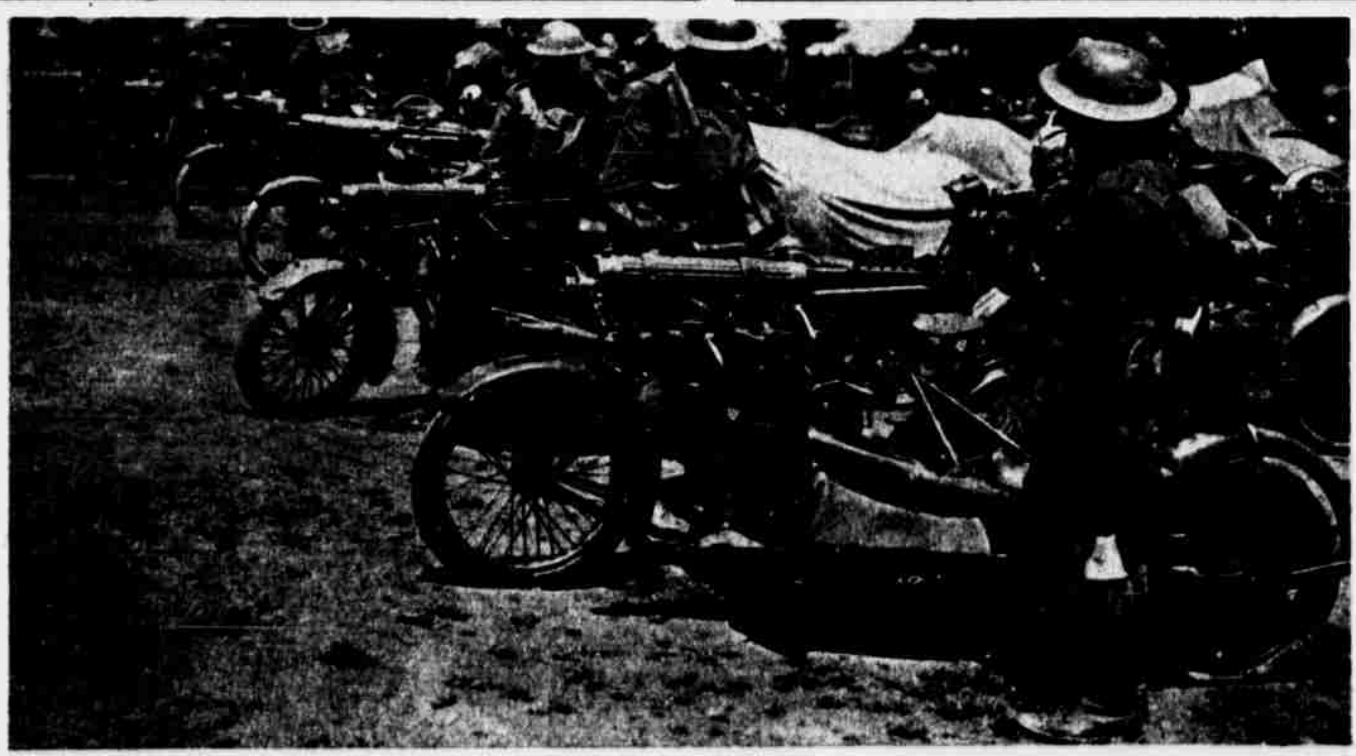

Above—The U. S. patrol boat S. C. 209, sunk by a merchantman which mistook it for a German U-boat.

International Film.

At Right—Motor machine gunners ready to start for the line of battle on the British front.

Copyright, Kadel & Herbert.

Major Gen. William L. Kenly, head of the Bureau of Military Aeronautics (at left) on a visit of inspection at Rockwell Field, San Diego, Cal. Beside him is Major Burwell, in command at Rockwell Field.

Copyright, International Film.